

Total Domination 1, Part 1

by DG

(dolguldur@email.com or universemigrator@yahoo.com)

War Games was arguably the most violent Underground Women's Wrestling League pay-per-view of all time, and the club's medical staff really earned their money that night. The UWWL's reputation is such that the local hospital learns when the pay-per-views are and assigns extra people to be on staff during those nights – and the hospital usually ends up needing those extra staff members. In addition to being an incredibly violent pay-per-view, War Games was further evidence that the bad girls are totally DOMINATING the Underground Women's Wrestling League right now. Two of the matches featured heels facing each other because the bad girls need to fight among themselves in order to have serious competition, and out of the 6 traditional heel vs. babyface matches the bad girls won 5 of them, and Robyn's miraculous victory over Monica can hardly be considered a win as it motivated her tormentors to literally give her the beating of her life after the match – sending her to the hospital for a long time and possibly putting her out of wrestling for good. Still, the good girls were just that one miraculous victory away from being swept by heels at the pay-per-view. In addition, ever since Kerstin lost the championship belt to Erica in that fateful cage match years ago the good girls have held championship gold for all of one measly week. Monica loves how the league is dominated by the heels because it escalates the violence and many fans pay specifically to see the sweet, pretty good girls get destroyed, stripped, tortured, and humiliated – but for the babyface wrestlers themselves the UWWL has been a living Hell.

In terms of specific matches, the result of the pay-per-view's main event was that the vicious and evil Hellcats were declared the undisputed winners of their long-standing feud with the babyface stable Angelfire. As for the members of Angelfire, Jackie was so traumatized with guilt about costing her team the match because of her bad leg and by the psychological torture inflicted on her during and after the match (in which she was forced to decide which one of her friends received excruciating electric shocks at any given time while being forced to watch her friends suffer) that she decided to take an indefinite hiatus from wrestling, and she is even contemplating retiring altogether despite being a former two-time tag team champion. In addition, the stunningly beautiful Alyssa was beaten so badly in the cage that she needed reconstructive surgery and will be out of wrestling for a LONG time recovering. To make matters worse for her, Mindy was correct in surmising that her modeling career was finished – Alyssa was fired as a fashion model because of the damage to her face and tits. Thus, the Angelfire stable is in complete disarray and will never be the same again after suffering such a terrible, feud-ending loss. Only Heidi and team leader Becky are still active, and they also have decided to take some time off to contemplate their futures and psychologically recover from the humiliation. Becky is a proud wrestler who has held three championship belts in her career but even a future hall of famer like her has difficulty coming to terms with a defeat of that magnitude. She is haunted by the memory of letting her friends down by screaming in agony while having her pussy tortured, even after she defiantly and confidently vowed that she would not scream no matter what The Hellcats did to her.

As for The Patriots, who also suffered a terrible loss at the hands of their arch rivals The Noblewomen, they were taken to an ambulance on stretchers after the club's security guards finally decided to break through the door of the Noblewomen's dressing room after they were in there torturing poor Molly and Susan for about an hour after their match ended. When the security guards busted in to rescue The Patriots Monique and Bridget were in the process of essentially giving absolutely brutal gynecological exams to both of the good girls, whose throats at that point were raw from screaming in agony. After Molly and Susan were released from the hospital, Susan was sick and tired of getting her ass kicked and then being humiliated and tormented because of her weak link partner Molly, so Susan reluctantly decided to fire Molly as her tag team partner and thus split up The Patriots as a tag team. Susan felt bad about hurting her friend's feelings but she felt like Molly was holding her back from reaching her potential as a wrestler. Molly was devastated by this and cried upon being told, but she needed the money from wrestling so she decided to become a jobber singles wrestler. A very interesting development from all of this is that Susan contacted former tag team champion Anjou about forming a new tag team, and Anjou readily agreed because her recent beatings made it clear that babyfaces in the UWWL need strength in numbers to protect themselves against being ambushed and outnumbered. Wrestlers need to constantly watch their backs in the violent and lawless confines of Monica's UWWL club. Thus, Anjou and Susan formed a new tag team called The United Nations.

Speaking of the gorgeous Indian beauty Anjou, she decided to switch to the good girls' side after having a falling out with her long time tag team partner Dheera. Anjou was rewarded for switching sides by being sent to the hospital twice in one week – once after being jumped and beaten while giving an interview and again after losing to her former partner in an absolutely vicious steel cage match. Similar to how Monica humiliated poor Robyn after destroying her at War Games, Dheera also sent Anjou a mocking “get well soon” card that asked her if she was paying rent at the hospital for being there so often. Anjou suffered injuries similar to Alyssa as her pretty face and tits needed serious medical attention. Anjou will eventually recover though, and she is still a formidable wrestler despite her terrible loss at War Games.

Another repercussion from the pay-per-view that is not good news for the UWWL babyfaces is that Erica, Dheera, Karen, and Brandi decided to formally become a stable known as The Underworld – a stable that will likely be even more vicious than the victorious Hellcats. The four bad girls enjoyed beating up Robyn (again) so much and they've teamed up in the past to dish out similar beatings so they decided to join together in an official capacity, with former 2 time world champion Erica as their leader. The Underworld will likely give even more business to the local hospital on the nights when UWWL events take place.

Because War Games was such a lopsided pay-per-view in favor of the heels, several of the UWWL babyfaces decided to get together and discuss what to do about their situation and how to prevent the heels from dominating the league even further. The beautiful veteran jobber Kris decided to host the meeting at her place; she did not wrestle at War Games and thus was not currently recovering from a severe beating (which is rare for her). She invited all of the UWWL babyface wrestlers, but poor Carolina and both of The Cheerleaders were unable to attend the meeting because they were still too beaten up and humiliated from the pay-per-view (especially Carolina, who was strung up like a piece of meat and fondled for hours after receiving the beating of her life from She-Devil). Susan from the now defunct Patriots was still recovering from the terrible loss she suffered in the cage but she was able to make it to the meeting, although it hurt for her to sit down in Kris's living room because her ass was still very sore from being severely whipped and her pussy and tits still hurt badly from the myriad tortures they received. Molly obviously did not attend the meeting because she is embarrassed about being fired by her long time partner and friend, and is still pissed off at her over it.

Susan was the first to arrive at the meeting. The beautiful veteran tag team of Kim & Kelly as well as perennial contender Marika showed up as well. The next to arrive at the meeting was Paula the Schoolgirl. Paula is in a tag team that used to be called The Bookworms, who came to the ring in schoolgirl outfits and were destroyed and humiliated at PainFest by the now current tag team champions Thunder & Lightning. Even though Paula and her partner Allison were annihilated in the match Monica noticed that they were a hit with the fans because of their schoolgirl theme. Thus, she convinced them based on fan request to change their tag team name to The Schoolgirls and to actually wrestle in the uniforms rather than taking them off and wrestling in traditional ring attire. After they recovered from the beating they took at PainFest and after their hair grew back somewhat (their heads were shaved by Thunder & Lightning after their defeat), Monica decided to be particularly cruel and match them up at BitchBrawl against The Cowgirls – the most vicious and sadistic tag team in the history of the league. She felt like she was giving the fans what they wanted to see because fans would particularly enjoy and pay good money to see the sexy Paula and Allison writhing in pain in those schoolgirl uniforms. As you might expect The Schoolgirls didn't stand a chance and received an even worse beating than what they suffered at the hands of Thunder & Lightning. They also suffered more humiliation, including having their asses painfully branded. Paula is currently wrestling in singles competition because her partner Allison decided to take a hiatus from wrestling due to her severe physical and psychological injuries (the brand on her ass will be there for the rest of her life, as will her memories of the beating). Paula is currently looking for a new partner to replace Allison (either temporarily or permanently, depending on whether Allison comes back), although it might be difficult to convince someone to be regularly beaten up and humiliated in a schoolgirl uniform.

Just as the meeting was about to begin, and the good girls in attendance assumed that nobody from the destroyed Angelfire team would attend, Becky and Heidi from Angelfire struggled into Kris's house. Both of them were wearing sunglasses because their pretty faces were still busted up from the cage match, and they were both still very sore (and it showed). Neither of them said a word, and they made their way to seats in the back of the room and sat down, wincing as they sat because their asses were still sensitive from being badly whipped after their defeat. Becky's pussy still really bothered her because it was severely tortured with heated pliers and tongs during the 24 hours of post-match Hell – as her pussy lips and clitoris were excruciatingly pulled to the limit by her tormentors. The beautiful blonde Heidi, one half of the legendary (and extremely sexy) Beach Babes tag team, seemed like she was at the meeting reluctantly, as she sat with her head down tightly clutching her purse and her car keys against her body – looking like a broken woman.

Kris decided to begin the meeting, “Okay, girls. You know why I’ve decided to get us together today. The recent War Games pay-per-view is evidence that things have gotten out of hand in the Underground Women’s Wrestling League. We need to do something about it because we’re all tired of losing and suffering both financial and physical consequences after the losses. Although the losing wrestler still gets paid okay, the winners get paid much more so we’ve all been getting screwed financially. Did you see how big that bitch Jessica’s house is? It’s unfair that we take so much punishment for much less money.” Paula then said, “Speaking of taking punishment, Monica actually ENCOURAGES those sadistic heel cunts to torment and humiliate us after the matches because she believes it’s good for selling tickets. She doesn’t give a shit about us at all – she figures that if we can’t take it we can walk away from wrestling like Lauren and countless others over the years because there are plenty of other attractive young women in the city who could use the money. How many people other than us have a job that involves actually being tortured once every few weeks? Those bitches should literally go to jail for the things they do to us – Erica uses an actual medieval torture device for Christ’s sake!”

This was when Becky chimed in for the first time after solemnly sitting in the back of the room with her sunglasses on, speaking slowly and deliberately, “Kris and I are the only ones here who have had Erica’s fucking Pear of Anguish device used on us... and I can tell you that the pain from a bodyslam, a punch to the gut, or a kick to the pussy is NOTHING compared to the pain from that Hellish thing. When Erica put that thing inside of my vagina and expanded it inside of me the pain was... it was literally indescribable. You don’t know what pain is until you’ve felt that thing being expanded inside of your pussy. I’m not a mother but I’d be willing to bet that it makes childbirth seem like a walk in the fucking park. It’s the 21st century and a wrestler shouldn’t be allowed to bring a modernized version of a torture device from the dark ages into a wrestling ring. The bottom line is that something has to be done because things are WAY out of hand.”

Marika then commented, “The question then is – what? What do we do to turn things around? Monica has all of the power and all of the money so if we complain to her she’ll just do what Paula mentioned - fire us and hire more lambs to the slaughter.” Kris responded, “I don’t think she’d fire us as easily as you say because we do have fans who love us and would be very upset to see us walk away – it would be bad customer service for Monica. Our fans have been getting short changed lately because the league has been so lopsided. Even though it's difficult to lose and be in pain it feels good to hear our fans cheer for us, and to see the adoration they have for us when we sign autographs. We need to think about the fans too in all of this."

Becky replied, "Even though we have clout with the fans I don't think approaching Monica is the way to go. The way I see it we have a few options. One is for us to start playing the bad girls' games – we can fight dirtier. We can start jumping them more and beating them up in the locker room and parking lot just like what they do to us – we need to play ROUGH, just as rough as them. The UWWL is a league with very few rules and it favors wrestlers who are willing to be Machiavellian. We have a disadvantage because they don't think twice about doing vicious things to us. Jessica and her fucking cunt friends had the advantage over my team in the cage because they broke my best friend's leg. Heidi, Alyssa, and I jumped Trisha and beat her up in the parking lot, but it didn't impact the match at all – we should have broken Trisha's fucking leg just like what they did to Jackie; an eye for a fucking eye."

Becky was getting noticeably angry, and the pure-hearted Susan interrupted her, "But Becky, if we did those things then we'd be no different from them! We would stop being good girls and our fans wouldn't like that. I agree that we need to be tougher and we need to play rougher than we do, but I couldn't see myself breaking Monique or Bridget's leg to get revenge. It's just not my style."

"Which brings me to the next option", Becky continued, "we need to stand up to those sadistic bad girls IN THE RING. We quite simply need to start offering them more resistance. One trend I've noticed over the years is that very good wrestlers from our side get put out of wrestling while the bad girls stick around – it's almost like Darwinism applied to professional women's wrestling. I think we can all admit that things got worse for us once Kerstin lost her championship belt to Erica in that cage match. That was a turning point in the UWWL and things haven't been the same since. I am perfectly fine with playing a leadership and mentorship role to you all but I need help. Kerstin was a great wrestler but her career was cut short by losing the retirement match to her arch nemesis. As far as I know nobody has been in touch with Kerstin ever since she was forced into retirement, and Monica would never allow her back into the league because Kerstin was officially retired and was a threat to Monica's power and authority. However, we need more wrestlers like Kerstin or Lynn who can act as a leader for us and stand up to the bad girls. Back when Lynn held the title for three and a half years the league was still dirty and violent because that's the name of the game, but things were more even then and the post-match tortures weren't out of hand like they are now."

That was when the gorgeous Kim spoke for the first time, "Hey, whatever happened to Rebecca? She was a great wrestler but she left to pursue other things in her life. Maybe one of us should see what she is up to – if she came back she could totally take on a leadership role because as far as I know she never lost a match during her brief career."

Kim was referring to Dr. Rebecca Williams, who wrestled in the UWWL several years ago for a short while and indeed never did lose a match. Rebecca is about 5'8" tall with blue eyes and the most gorgeous head of golden blonde hair you'll ever see. Rebecca was Lauren's best friend in high school, and was the star player on Lauren's field hockey team (Rebecca was around during the incident when Lauren sought revenge on an opposing player for whacking her in the cunt – the incident that ultimately sparked Lauren's desire to become a wrestler). Rebecca was also the lead violinist in her school's symphony, and later she would go on to sit in with the city's symphony orchestra. In addition to being a star athlete in multiple sports and a talented musician Rebecca was also the valedictorian of her high school – an absolute superstar both physically and intellectually. In college Rebecca was the captain and star athlete on the crew team, and she excelled at a few other sports as well. Her GPA approached a 4.0 and she graduated summa cum laude. Rebecca is talented enough to do pretty much whatever she wants in life. However, Rebecca is an extremely competitive person, almost to a fault, and she has always been the BEST at everything she has ever done. She remained friends with Lauren after high school and followed Lauren's wrestling career, giving Lauren support during her legendary feud with Amy – congratulating her after her victories and helping her to recover after crushing defeats. Women's wrestling always intrigued Rebecca because in a way wrestling is the ULTIMATE competition – two women locked in an ancient, primal dance of fury and combat. Thus, when Lauren invited Rebecca to join her as her tag team partner she jumped at the opportunity.

Rebecca and Lauren formed a tag team called The Starlight Express, which is now considered a legendary team among UWWL fans. The two beauties wrestled in sparkling silver leotards with shiny tights and they literally looked like angels as they glistened under the lights of the club. Both wrestlers are very acrobatic, and Rebecca has a serious mean streak due to her highly competitive nature, so the combination of the two led to great success. They finished off a series of other tag teams, usually by using their finishing move – the double drop kick. After several months of climbing the rankings The Starlight Express were granted a title shot against the tag team champions, who at that time were The Wrecking Crew, Trisha and Alana from The Hellcats. The Wrecking Crew had recently become the champions for the second time after beating the team that they previously lost the titles to, Becky and Jackie from their arch rival stable Angelfire. The championship match between The Wrecking Crew and The Starlight Express was a vicious affair that started out well for the challengers but eventually Lauren was isolated in the champs' corner and was punished severely. Lauren was recently slaughtered by Amy in another brutal match in their ongoing feud and the bad girls knew it, so they targeted the parts of Lauren's body that were still not 100%. However, a beaten and battered Lauren was eventually able to turn the tide with one of her patented dropkicks, and she managed to crawl over and tag in Rebecca. Rebecca came into the ring like a woman possessed and looked like she was going to win the tag team titles as she had Trisha in her finishing submission hold, The Sharpshooter, but Alana ran into the ring with a steel chair and Lauren was too beaten up and exhausted to stop her from clocking Rebecca across the back of the head with the chair. Rebecca dropped like a rock and Trisha was freed from the Sharpshooter right before she was about to tap out. The referee called for the bell to award the match to The Starlight Express by disqualification, as Alana intentionally disqualified her team to preserve the titles. However, things didn't end with the bell as usual. Alana continued to pound on Rebecca with that chair, as she beat her on the back a few times and then rolled her over and drove the chair into her tits repeatedly. The Wrecking Crew proceeded to give Rebecca the beating and humiliation of her life, as Trisha brought in a steel chair as well and knocked Lauren out cold with a chair shot to the forehead. They then converged on Rebecca, who they saw as a major threat because of how extremely talented she is, and they peeled off her sparkly silver leotard to expose her luscious tits – leaving her in nothing but her shiny tights and her silver boots, which they promptly removed to leave her in her stocking feet – showing off her sexy red toenail polish. This was the first time that Rebecca was ever stripped in a wrestling ring, and she had never been so humiliated in her life.

As Lauren was out cold in the corner Alana lifted up Rebecca's shimmery legs and spread them, and then Trisha took her steel chair, turned it vertically, and pounded the top part of the chair right into Rebecca's pussy – using the cotton crotch of her tights as a convenient target. Rebecca moaned out in agony, but Trisha didn't let up as she ground the chair into her crotch. Trisha then tossed her chair to Alana, who drove the top right into Rebecca's throat and then choked her while Trisha dropped to her knees and began repeatedly slugging Rebecca in the belly and pussy. Rebecca just helplessly writhed in agony, gasping for air as she couldn't breathe while enduring Trisha's punches. Alana finally released the chair from her throat and then unceremoniously dumped the chair on top of Rebecca's tits. The Wrecking Crew then went over to Lauren and stripped off her leotard as well followed by a de-booting. Lauren's boobs, belly, and crotch were then thoroughly tenderized by a steel chair and by the fists and boots of her tormentors. After beating Lauren's beautiful body until her sensitive areas were like raw meat, Trisha lifted Lauren up to all fours by the hair and then Alana did the same with Rebecca – as the beautiful tag team partners were almost naked in nothing but their tights. Lauren and Rebecca were both forced to crawl into the center of the ring and face each other on their knees. The Wrecking Crew then forced the two beauties to lick and suck on each other's bare tits in front of a huge, sold out crowd. Rebecca and Lauren had tears trickling down their faces as their tongues lapped across each other's tits and their lips suckled on each other's stiffening nipples. Amy had done things like this to Lauren a few times after defeating her so Lauren was somewhat accustomed to such humiliation, although it was still horrible for her, but a humiliating experience like that was traumatic for Rebecca to endure.

After the forced titty sucking session, the beaten members of The Starlight Express were picked up by the hair and then tangled up in the ropes with their arms behind them, trapped beside each other with their arms between the top and middle ropes. Alana walked up to Rebecca while Trisha walked up to Lauren; both bad girls smirked, and then unloaded a barrage of blows to the helpless good girls. The Wrecking Crew followed this up by giving them humiliating slaps across the face. After the beating, the bad girls decided to grab the crotch areas of the challengers' shiny tights and they shredded open HUGE holes in the tights in order to expose their pussies. Alana and Trisha then proceeded to maul the good girls' cunts, as they shrieked from being violated and tormented. The cunt punishment included sharp fingernails being raked across their labia and their clits being pinched and yanked. After the beleaguered beauties were almost unconscious from the pain the bad girls decided to roughly rip out clumps of their pubic hair. Finally, Alana and Trisha decided to end the torture session in style by grabbing the waist bands of the good girls' tights and then slowly pulling them down their sexy legs and off of them, making them completely nude in front of everyone. The two Hellcat members decided to keep the shredded Starlight Express tights as souvenirs of the beating, and they still have the two pairs of tights proudly displayed as trophies to this very day. The Wrecking Crew, with the tag team championship belts around their waists, left the ring to a throng of loud boos and avoided debris that fans threw at them as they made their way back to the dressing room so they could celebrate the beating and the retention of their titles with Jessica and Mindy. Meanwhile, Rebecca and Lauren were left tangled in the ropes, buck naked and covered in blood, bruises, and tears. The thing that was wounded the most though was Rebecca's pride, as she was used to always winning at everything and she never had such an experience in her life.

After that night The Starlight Express surely would have been granted a championship rematch because they technically won the match, and heck they also really needed to get revenge after such a beating, but that fateful match was a turning point for Rebecca. She loved wrestling, but on that night she realized the sacrifices that one has to make in order to be a full time UWWL wrestler as a career: – it means being in pain much of the time and almost constantly recovering from one injury or another. It also means occasionally experiencing traumatic things such as being stripped naked in front of hundreds of spectators and being forced to do humiliating things. At that point Rebecca just started dating the man who she would eventually marry, and she couldn't have sex with him for a while because her pussy was too sore (as an aside, Rebecca's husband thought it was hot how she was a professional wrestler and throughout their relationship she sometimes wore her wrestling outfit for him in the bedroom during foreplay on special occasions, such as his birthday). She didn't want to have her relationships harmed by her wrestling career, and because of her multiple talents there were many other things she could do with her life, and so Rebecca decided to leave wrestling for other things and thus reluctantly split up The Starlight Express. Lauren was devastated when Rebecca told her about the decision but she understood, although the two friends ended up gradually drifting apart over time.

Back to the meeting at Kris's house, the good girls in attendance agreed to look up Rebecca's number and give her a call to see if she would consider coming back to the UWWL. But first, however, Kris had another order of business to discuss.

Kris continued the conversation, "Girls, there is something else I need to tell you about. I'm taking a huge risk by disclosing this so what I'm about to say DOES NOT LEAVE THIS ROOM, under any circumstances..."

To be continued in "Total Domination 1, Part 2"